

About Hope and Comfort

Can you imagine not being able to meet your most basic personal hygiene needs? This is a reality for many people, like Sarah, a high school student. Sarah does not have access to basic personal care products like soap and toothpaste. She is constantly teased and has isolated herself from her classmates. She is embarrassed about her appearance and smell and is afraid to approach her teachers to ask for help when she does not understand. Her schoolwork is suffering. Hope and Comfort's vision is that one day, everyone living in the US will have access to essential personal care products to feel clean, confident and healthy. To achieve this vision, Hope and Comfort provides personal care products to a network of partner organizations that includes Boys and Girls Clubs of Boston, the Health and Wellness Department of the Boston Public Schools, and multiple food pantries. These partners distribute the essential hygiene products to those who need them most. With the help of the community, Hope and Comfort has donated over 274,000 products to date.

For more information visit our website at www.HopeandComfort.org or contact Pat Flaherty at PFlaherty@HopeandComfort.org or (774) 847-1245.

About Hope and Comfort

Can you imagine not being able to meet your most basic personal hygiene needs? This is a reality for many people, like Sarah, a high school student. Sarah does not have access to basic personal care products like soap and toothpaste. She is constantly teased and has isolated herself from her classmates. She is embarrassed about her appearance and smell and is afraid to approach her teachers to ask for help when she does not understand. Her schoolwork is suffering. Hope and Comfort's vision is that one day, everyone living in the US will have access to essential personal care products to feel clean, confident and healthy. To achieve this vision, Hope and Comfort provides personal care products to a network of partner organizations that includes Boys and Girls Clubs of Boston, the Health and Wellness Department of the Boston Public Schools, and multiple food pantries. These partners distribute the essential hygiene products to those who need them most. With the help of the community, Hope and Comfort has donated over 274,000 products to date.

For more information visit our website at www.HopeandComfort.org or contact Pat Flaherty at PFlaherty@HopeandComfort.org or (774) 847-1245.

